PRESS RELEASE

Paris, June 30th 2017

EURONAVAL 2018, all aboard!

Registration for Euronaval 2018, the world naval defence exhibition (23-26 October 2018) opened this week.

In 2018 the EURONAVAL exhibition celebrates its 50th anniversary and is being renewed.

EURONAVAL IN 4 DAYS.

The 2018 exhibition will be more compact, concentrated into a four-day show in Paris-le Bourget from Tuesday 23rd to Friday 26th October 2018. A shorter format in line with exhibitor and visitor expectations.

EURONAVAL CONFERENCE.

As a pre-opening to the exhibition, on Monday 22nd October 2018 an international colloquium will be organised in Paris, bringing together high-level speakers from Industry, Government, Military Navies and International Organisations, to debate the major topical and future issues in the world of Naval Defence.

EURONAVAL PRESIDENT.

EURONAVAL 2018 will be presided by Hervé GUILLOU, CEO of NAVAL GROUP (ex DCNS) and president of the GICAN, the French Maritime Industry Group, organisers of the exhibition for 50 years.

EURONAVAL CONTINUES ITS DEVELOPMENT.

EURONAVAL will once again be the privileged global meeting point for contractors, industrialists, experts and decision-makers of military Navies from all five continents. The 2016 edition brought together 400 exhibitors, including 56% from 34 foreign countries, registered 23,250 professional visits, 129 official delegations from 64 countries and 350 journalists from all over the world.

About Euronaval

Euronaval is the world-leading exhibition for the naval defence industry and maritime safety-security. Organised every two years at the gateway to Paris in space covering 15,000-sqm, Euronaval brings together the world's largest panel of industrialists and distributors of naval equipment and systems, as well as all associated services. Representatives of 64 of the hundred countries with Navies replied to the French government's invitation to attend Euronaval 2016. It is the only existing international event exclusively devoted to the naval defence market. Euronaval is a GICAN (French Maritime Industry Group) event, organised by its subsidiary, SOGENA.

Every three months, Euronaval publishes the magazine Naval Defence Link, keeping the international Naval Defence community up to date on naval technologies, market developments and the modernization of navies throughout the world.
